

I am completely opposed to allowing current owners of media outlets to own larger numbers of outlets. I see no possible way that this benefits the public. The only benefits go to the monopolies that will soon own all radio and television stations and all newspapers. How can we say we have freedom of the press in the US if all sources of news are owned by a handful of companies? We must have a diverse mix of reporting. Please do not change existing regulations regarding broadcast ownership.